Television reporter and storyteller dedicated to covering the pro-life movement, free speech, and religious freedom for a national news audience. Brings a decade-plus record as a business founder and published author alongside daily reporting work — added range in research, writing, and public communication that comes from building something independently rather than only reporting on it. Known for earning the trust of advocates, survivors, and legal experts to tell stories mainstream outlets often miss.

EXPERIENCE

Reporter & Correspondent

NTD News, New York — 2022–Present

Reports and writes broadcast news covering the pro-life movement, culture, social issues, and public affairs, from story development through on-camera delivery. Pro-life reporting includes an exclusive interview with the Pennsylvania Pro-Life Federation on the defunding of the 30-year Real Alternatives pregnancy support program; an interview with the Thomas More Society following the FACE Act sentencing of pro-life advocate Lauren Handy; and an interview with March for Life president Jennie Bradley Lichter following the Supreme Court's abortion pill ruling. Additional beats include religious liberty and free speech cases (UK street preaching arrests, Canadian hate speech legislation) and conservative values reporting (Title IX and women's sports litigation, campus free speech, women's safety policy).
